BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORICAL NOTE

Hal Harper Kilbourne was a member of the prominent Kilbourne family of Clinton, Louisiana. He was born July 24, 1879 to James Kilbourne, M.D., and Emma Holcombe Kilbourne. His grandfather, James Gilliam Kilbourne, was a prominent planter, jurist, and state legislator. Like his grandfather, Hal practiced law in Clinton, and he served as district judge. He was also the nephew of Judge Charles Kilbourne (b. 1856). He married Roberta Heath Kilbourne in 1903. They had five children: Elizabeth, Susie, Richard Holcombe, Virginia and Hal Harper, Jr. Hal Harper Kilbourne died at the age of 80 on Jan. 7, 1960. Lawyers' Row, a National Historic Landmark is located in Clinton where the Kilbourne have maintained a law office since the middle of the 19th century.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The collection is comprised of personal papers and photographs reflecting the life of Hal Harper Kilbourne of Clinton, Louisiana. The papers contain correspondence, personal papers, genealogical material and photographs. Correspondence comprises a large part of the collection, with the majority written to Hal Harper Kilbourne by his wife, Roberta Heath Kilbourne, before and after they married. Personal papers include death notices, two diaries, a memorandum booklet, certificates, legal documents and sales receipts. Family photographs consist of card photographs, portraits and snapshots of family members and buildings, including Bonnie Burn Plantation house, the Kilbourne family home in Clinton.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

Series I. Papers, 1826-1984, undated.

Subseries 1. Correspondence, 1848-1984, undated.

Early correspondence are photocopies of letters written by A. R. Holcombe and A. Spence that concern family matters, childbirth and news of friends (1848, 1854). Letters written to Hal Kilbourne from Roberta Heath Kilbourne before and after their marriage (1900-1906) make up a large part of this series. Letters from relatives discuss family matters and personal news, and later letters concern genealogy.

Subseries 2. Personal Papers, 1826-1979, undated.

Personal papers include death notices (1873-1921), two diaries (1897-1904), a memorandum booklet (1888, 1896-1898), certificates (1850-1936), legal documents (1826-1979), and sales receipts for Spence family members (1958-1960). The earliest item is a photocopy of a legal document that allows James Perkins to obtain a Mississippi marriage license in order to marry Louisiana E. Gayden (Nov. 23, 1826). Health records certify that individuals had no contact with yellow fever or any other contagious diseases (1905). Legal papers also include photocopies of the will (Feb. 3, 1887) and succession of James G. Kilbourne (Oct. 2, 1893) as well as property and land documents (1966, 1970, 1975). A petition to the East Feliciana District Court requests reimbursement from the Yazoo Mississippi Valley Railroad Co. for the injury and death of livestock (ca. 1902).

Diaries of Hal Harper Kilbourne describe interactions with family members, visits to neighbors and friends, parties and gatherings, and weather conditions. He also describes student life while away at school (Sept. 1897-June 1898). Entries include poetry and his philosophical views of romantic relationships. Passages mention yellow fever epidemic in New Orleans and Ocean Springs (Sept. 7, 30, 1897) and a quarantine in Mississippi Sept. 18, 1897. He reports on the number of deaths in Wilson, La., and that he accompanied his father, Dr. James Kilbourne to Wilson to visits to the victims of yellow fever (Sept. 28, Oct. 8, 10, 1898). There are also references to the sinking of the USS Maine in Havana Harbor and war with Spain (Feb. 16, April 1898).

Two guest books, one for a memorial in remembrance of Victor Maurin Coates (Dec. 27, 1946), and another book for the East Feliciana Pilgrim Garden Club Tour (March 1959) are also in this group. Printed material includes a booklet of stories, Madame Tellier's Establishment ..., 1946, and book, The Londoner, by Dorothy Nicholson, 1844. The appointment of Richard H. Kilbourne as Color Sargent by the Corps of Cadets of LSU (1931). Papers also contain information copied from earlier documents relating to land (undated), and newspaper articles pertain to the town of Clinton and Kilbourne family members (1894, 1955-1975). Of particular interest are two large protest signs in support of segregation (ca. 1960s).

Subseries 3. Genealogies and Histories, 1855, 1963-1979, undated.

This group is comprised of genealogy notes, lists, biographical sketches, narratives reflecting the history the Kilbourne family and related Perkins, Gayden, Spence and Holcombe families. Notes also contain 1850 census for East Feliciana Parish and Amite County, Miss., and lists family ancestors. Two journal articles pertain to Clinton during the Civil War (undated). A dedication address, essays, notes and a newspaper clipping provide a history of Lawyers' Row, the Courthouse and East Feliciana Public Library building located in Clinton (1971-1979, undated). The history of the Kilbourne family home in Clinton, Bonnie Burn Plantation, consists of essays and photocopies of a land plat showing the location of the plantation house (undated).

A biography by Anne Kilbourne Craddock, Hal Harper Kilbourne's sister, The Life and Times of Anne K. Craddock, offers insight into childhood experiences, daily life, family relationships and the genealogy and history of the Kilbourne and related families, as well the history of Bonnie Burn Plantation (1984).

History and minutes of the organization, titled "First Book of the Chronicles of the Mystic Seven, Temple of the Wreath," (1849-1861) located at Centenary College, Jackson, La., written in cryptic language, includes names of members, dates they joined, and secret names taken in the organization is found on microfilm.

Series II. Photographs, ca. 1900-ca. 1965, undated.

Photographs consist of card photographs, portraits and snapshots. The majority of photographs are of unidentified individuals and buildings. Those photographs of identified individuals and buildings include Kilbourne family members sitting on the front steps of Bonnie Burn Plantation house (ca. 1903), two card photographs of Bonnie Burn Planation house (ca. 1920), Paulsen Spence LSU graduation photograph (1921), and a hunting photo and two snapshots of Elizabeth Kilbourne Spence (ca. 1935-1945). One snapshot shows a grocery store in high floodwaters, possibly during the Great Flood of 1927 (ca. 1927). Portraits taken circa the 1950s and 1960s are presumably of Kilbourne family members.
