BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORICAL NOTE

Born in Nagoya, Japan, to Masaichi and Mieko Hattori, Yoshihiro Hattori was 16 years old when he arrived from Japan to Baton Rouge as part of the American Field Service (AFS) student exchange program. He resided with his host family, the Richard Haymaker family of Baton Rouge. He attended McKinley High School with his homestay brother, Webb Haymaker. Two months after his arrival in Baton Rouge, Webb and Yoshi were invited to a Halloween party on October 17, 1992. They mistakenly knocked on the front door of the wrong house, which had a similar address and Halloween decorations. As they were returning to their car, the property owner, Rodney Peairs opened his carport door. Armed with a .44 Magnum revolver, he pointed the gun at Hattori and yelled, "Freeze!" Yoshi Hattori stepped back toward the house, saying, "We're here for the party." Peairs shot and killed Yoshi Hattori, claiming that he feared for his life. The homicide and Peairs' acquittal in the state court of Louisiana received worldwide attention.

After his acquittal, Yoshi's parents filed a wrongful death suit against Rodney Peairs in the 19th Judicial District Court of East Baton Rouge Parish, Louisiana. The court ruled in favor of the Hattoris and awarded them $650,000 in damages. Peairs appealed to the Court of Appeal of Louisiana, First Circuit, however, only Peairs' homeowner's insurance paid compensation. They received $100,000. After legal fees and expenses, the Hattoris received $45,000.

The Hattoris used this money to establish two charitable funds in their son's name. One to fund U.S. high school students wishing to visit Japan, and another, Yoshi's Gift, provided direct financial assistance to anti-violence organizations in the U.S. In 1997, the administration of this program was given to the Ceasefire Foundation of Washington in conjunction with members of the board for Yoshi's Gift, which included Richard and his wife, Dr. Holley Galland Haymaker.

At the time of Yoshi's arrival, Richard Haymaker was on the faculty of the Dept. of Physics and Astronomy at Louisiana State University. His wife, Dr. Holley Galland was the Associate Director of Family Practice at Earl K. Long Hospital, LSU. After the death of Yoshi, they became leading social activists for gun control legislation and violence prevention. Richard Haymaker communicated by mail, phone and fax with many individuals and non-profit organizations in an effort to curb gun violence in the nation. In July of 1993, the Haymakers traveled to Japan for speaking tour on gun violence in the U.S. The Haymakers also accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hattori to meet with President Bill Clinton at the White House in order to present the president with signed petitions. Haymaker worked towards the passage of the Assault Weapons Ban, which the U.S. Congress passed in 1994. He received several awards including the Wade Mackey Peace Making Award, which he shared with his wife Holley, the Powell-Renznikoff Award and the Brij Mohan Distinguished Professor Award for social action. Haymaker is now retired from the LSU Dept. of Physics & Astronomy.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The collection chronicles the shooting death of Yoshihiro Hattori by homeowner Rodney Peairs, Peairs' criminal trial, and a wrongful death civil suit brought against him by the parents of Yoshi, Masaichi and Mieko Hattori. The collection contains correspondence, reports and studies, civil trial and gun legislation, project and events files, printed items, audio/video material, and the files of several activist organizations. Papers show how closely Richard Haymaker worked with other individuals and organizations in their joint efforts to prevent violence and promote handgun safety. Papers also document a visit to the White House at the invitation of President Bill Clinton, the Haymakers' speaking tour in Japan, petition drives, media coverage, and the "Yoshi's Gift" grant program set up by the Hattoris to provide funding to organizations that promoted gun control.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

Series I. Correspondence, 1991-2016, undated.

Subseries 1. Haymaker-Hattori Correspondence, 1992-2016.

Letters exchanged between the Haymaker and Hattori families convey the grief and loss over the death of Yoshi Hattori and emotional support they gave each other. The letters discuss the gun control petitions circulated in Japan and the United States by the Haymakers and Hattori. They also discuss ideas on projects and events to commemorate Yoshi and to draw attention to lax gun laws in the U. S. The families report to each other on the status of their petitions, as well as other individuals with whom they have corresponded. Letters relate their disbelief and disappointment at the acquittal of Rodney Peairs. They also discuss visits to the U. S. and to Japan.

Subseries 2. Hattori-Haymaker Petition Drive Correspondence, 1992-1994, undated.

The petitions circulated by the Haymakers in the U.S. and by the Hattoris in Japan, are the focus of this subseries. The letters request petitions, offer condolences on the death of Yoshi, and comment on the need to control gun violence in the United States. Letters also share personal stories about gun violence and needless loss of life. Correspondents include Japanese friends and strangers who are saddened by the death of Yoshi and concerned about the easy accessibility of guns in the U.S. Other correspondents include members of AFS and members of churches and religious organizations. In two early letters, the Hattoris, offer thanks to those who welcomed Yoshi into the community (Oct. 20, 30, 1992). In another, they thank Reverend Steve Crump for the memorial service (Oct. 30, 1992). Of particular interest is their letter to Rodney Peairs, in which they tell him of the person Yoshi could have become. They ask Peairs to give up guns (June 4, 1994). Papers consist of correspondence, blank petitions and signed petitions. In correspondence to individuals and organizations, Richard Haymaker requests help to circulate petitions and he discusses the progress of petition drives.

Subseries 3. Topical Correspondence, 1992-2014, undated.

With the exception of anti-gun control and letters to the editor, letters in this group are organized by titles assigned by the creator of the collection. They include letters from the AFS community, anti-gun control, Japanese friendships, letters of condolences, individuals relating stories about personal tragedies and personal convictions concerning guns. Among the personal tragedies group is Richard Haymaker's letter to "Dear Abby" in which he conveys the tragedy of Yoshi's death and the tragedy of the gun culture in the U.S. (July 3, 1993). Letters of condolences express sympathy for both the death of Yoshi and the acquittal verdict of Rodney Peairs. Several of these letters offer to participate in the petition drive.

Subseries 4. Alphabetical Files of Correspondents, 1991-2014, undated.

This group consists of correspondence with gun control activists and supporters of the petition drive. They discuss gun control, gun legislation, opinions, and share facts and information. Among the correspondents are U. S. senators, J. Bennett Johnston and John Breaux, Louisiana congressional representatives, Richard Baker and Bob Livingston, and state senator, John Guidry. Haymaker also communicated with Walter Mondale and

Michael Armacost, both of whom served as the American ambassadors to Japan, and Baton Rouge District Attorney, Doug Moreau.

Series II. Activism Files, 1992-2014, undated.

The majority of non-profit organizations represented in this series promote legislation to stem gun violence and to change public policies through increasing public awareness. Their interests focus on laws or policies that regulate the manufacture, sale, transfer, possession, modification, or use of firearms by civilians. Other organizations represented in this series are religious and church groups, advocates for child safety, and groups related to education. Material includes correspondence, newsletters, press releases, handbills and brochures. The Second Amendment Foundation represents gun owners' rights.

The most represented organizations are Louisiana Ceasefire and Handgun Control, Inc. Files are comprised of correspondence, printed material, financial papers, and ephemera. Several binders of organizational files of Louisiana Ceasefire contain the same type of material as the files, as well as papers pertaining to specific gun legislation and child safety measures. Binder #4 contains the Articles of Incorporation, lobbying registration with the state legislature and a lobbying agreement. Binders #7-8 shows Louisiana Ceasefire working in conjunction with Handgun Control, Inc. lobbying for federal legislation requiring child safety locks for handguns. Papers removed from the binders are retained in the original order of the creator.

Series III. Projects and Events Papers, 1991-2012, undated.

Subseries 1. Petition Drive Papers, 1993.

This subseries consist of proposals for projects and events to preserve the memory of Yoshi Hattori and consequently promote gun control due to his violent death. Papers document the Haymakers' trip to Japan in July of 1993, and the Hattoris' and Haymakers' White House visit with President Bill Clinton. Photographs of President Clinton and the Hattoris are included. This group contains proposals for interviews and stories by news organizations, journal articles, music in honor of Yoshi, and book proposals.

Note: Files are arranged alphabetically by name of individuals and organizations.

Subseries 2. Alphabetical Files, 1991-2012, undated.

Files in this group consist of proposed and/or completed projects and events dedicated to the memory of Yoshi Hattori. They include memorials for Yoshi, proposals for books and articles, and musical performances. Also found is the musical score for To Yoshi's Mothers all over the World by Miyako Kume and Akemi Mano and a mock trial transcript, The Germanville Halloween Shooting (ca. 1998).

Subseries 3. "Yoshi's Gift" Files, 1996-2001.

With the $45,000 they received from a wrongful death settlement from Rodney Pears' homeowners insurance, the Hattoris established the "Yoshi's Gift Award." The purpose of this award was to support organizations in their efforts to promote gun control in the U.S. The Yoshi Coalition, the Hattoris, and council members chose the recipients for the award. In 1997, "Yoshi's Gift" was merged with the Ceasefire Foundation of Washington until 2001 when administration of the fund was transferred to the Million Mom March Foundation. The files contain correspondence, drafts of award requirements, and grant applications submitted by individuals and groups. Correspondence discusses applicants, recipients and proposals. Submitted applications include proposed budgets and project goals of the applicant organization.

Series IV. Legal Papers, 1991-2006, undated.

Subseries 1. Civil Trial Records, 1991-1996, undated.

This subseries contains court records from the wrongful death civil suit of Masaichi and Mieko Hattori vs. Rodney and Bonnie Peairs, and their homeowners' insurance company. Records include a court petition and the final judgment in which Rodney Peairs is found responsible for the death of Yoshi Hattori. Records also contain the complete testimonies of Webb Haymaker and Holley Haymaker, as well as excerpts of the testimonies of Rodney and Bonnie Peairs. Richard Haymaker's statement and comments by Holley Haymaker are also included.

Subseries 2. Legislation Files, 1991-2006.

This group deals with legislation, pertaining to the Brady Bill, assault weapons legislation in Congress, and the handgun laws in Louisiana. The papers include correspondence, clippings of gun legislation and violent crimes, newsletters, and photocopies of legislative bills filed in the Louisiana Legislature.

Series V. Reports and Studies, 1986-2010.

This series contains reports and studies relating to criminal and social issues arising from gun violence. Topics include children and gun violence and crime, incarceration, and news coverage by American and Japanese media. Series also contains facts sheets and an FBI crime report for 1993.

Series VI. Printed Items, 1984-2006.

Subseries 1. Journal Articles, 1984-2009.

For the most part this series is comprised of articles and commentaries from a gun control perspective that pertain to the proliferation of guns in the U.S., juvenile crime, gun violence, gun control legislation, and related topics. They also address the social aspects and health issues directly related to gun violence, with articles and letters written by experts in the fields of medicine, psychology, and sociology. The journals Time, Newsweek, U.S. News and Mother Jones devote entire issues to gun violence and juvenile crime, including the Columbine High School massacre (1993, 2001).

Subseries 2. Newspaper Clippings, 1992-2006, undated.

Clippings include newspaper articles and editorials on incidents of gun violence, addressing gun violence in the U.S., juvenile crime, handgun control, and gun legislation. Many are written about Yoshi Hattori and circumstances surrounding his death, as well as those related to the Hattori and Haymaker families and their efforts to change gun laws and inform the public of the dangers of gun ownership. Clippings reflect the views of both gun control advocates and gun rights advocates.

Articles and commentaries that speak for Second Amendment rights include a draft of "A Nation of Cowards," by Jeffrey Snyder (1993), "the Embarrassment of the Second Amendment," by Sanford Levinson (1993), and "Honey, I Warped the Kids," by Michael Krasny. Of note are excerpts from a 1993 interview of Rodney Peairs that appeared in the Japanese publication, Weekly Bانشun (1993). In addition, a commentary found in the journal Gun Week, titled "Japanese Antis Now Busy Trying to Disarm the U.S: comments on the Yoshi Hattori death. However, it wrongly states that Yoshi was shot "when he entered the house" (Jan. 29, 1993).

Subseries 3. Books, 1993-2002.

Published books include English, Japanese and French language items that concern the death of Yoshi Hattori, guns, and crime in the U.S. Several of the books contain personal inscriptions.

The titles and brief descriptions of each book are as follows:

English language books:

Freedom, Rights and Responsibility, 1996, contains a chapter written by Masaichi Hattori on "America's Gun Culture."

Yoshi: Messages from Japanese & Americans, published by the Yoshi Coalition is a compilation of prose and poetry contributed by Japanese and Americans in remembrance of Yoshi Hattori, 1993.

Overcoming Yoshi's Death discusses Yoshi's death, and briefly discussed the American gun culture, advice for students studying abroad, the American judicial system, and the 2nd Amendment.

On this Site is a pictorial book depicts crime scenes in the United States, and includes the carport where Rodney Peairs shot Yoshi Hattori, 1996, by Joel Sternfeld.

French language book:

Violente Amérique Une démocratie en armes by Gilles Delafon, 1995, contains a chapter "Tue rest Mon Droit," which pertains to the death of Yoshi, the differences in cultures and the efforts of the Hattoris and Haymakers to change the gun culture in the U.S. Japanese language publications include two issues of Shukan Bانشun (Bانشun) that contain stories on Yoshi Hattori.
